HARRISBURG, Pa., May 16.—The maddest, dizziest primary campaign in Pennsylvania's checkered political history drew to a noisy close today amid wholesale charges of bribery and corruption, and with factions of both parties calling loudly for the gendarmes.

Nothing quite like this red-hot campaign has ever been seen in Pennsylvania politics; indeed, it is doubtful if any state ever witnessed such savage intra-party fighting, such broadsides of name-calling and abuse, such indiscriminate charges and counter-charges.

"Dante's Inferno"

President Roosevelt described the Pennsylvania political situation a few days ago as comparable to Dante's Inferno. A good many impartial observers are inclined to agree with him.

And it is more than merely a Pennsylvania fight, National con-

PA NEW OBSERVES

No new detours are shown in the local district on the Detour Bulletin of the Pennsylvania Highway Department for the period ending May 20, although the red detour marks are beginning to sprinkle the highway map in greater numbers.

How long you eat at an ice cream cone? Well, three girls got on a Highland car Friday afternoon, with ice cream cones in their hand, and two of them were still eating at them when they got off the car at Sheridan avenue. Sort of a long distance record, eh?

After a week of frigid temperatures, the sun came out bright and warm this morning, presaging an end to the cold snap which has gripped the entire northern section of the country. Much damage was done to fruit and crops by heavy frosts during the cold period, unusual for this time of the year.

Immeasurable benefit resulted from rains over the week end. The ground had become extremely dry and crops were suffering from a lack of rainfall.

Sunday sportsmen and motorists had a rather bad day of it yesterday. Rain and cold weather dampened their spirits for their favorite amusement.

Up on Highland avenue recently Pa News saw one of the pet squirrels that inhabit the neighborhood, run up the front walk to a grocery store, seize a small potato from a basket, and scot around from the corner. Evidently thought the potato was a nut.

State highway direction signs are now being repainted in black and yellow. They have been black and white or several years.

New Charges By Margiotti

Candidate Charges Sunday
Movie Bill Was Sold For $100,000

ADDRESSES LARGE CROWD IN CITY

Back in the county that made him famous in 1930, Charles J. Margiotti, candidate for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination, hurried new charges of corruption at the Democratic state administration Saturday night in an open air meeting on Rosena grounds on South Mill street.

It was the largest and most colorful meeting of the campaign, just closing in Lawrence county. An estimated 1200 stood in the rain, with about two hundred automobiles containing more people. Margiotti was introduced by his campaign manager here, Dr. John A. Mehan. State Senator John J. Haluska, candidate for the nomination for lieutenant-governor, also spoke.

Sold Sunday Movie Bill

"The Sunday motion picture bill was sold by Dave Lawrence and Matthew McCloskey for $100,000 cash," Margiotti charged. "In March of this year I became a candidate for governor. A member of the legislature came to me personally and told me that the bill to permit Sunday movies was ordered held up in committee by Lawrence and McCloskey until the bill could be sold for cash."

"Passage of the bill was delayed until payment of the money could be made. The $100,000 was paid by certain persons connected with the motion picture industry to David McCloskey."

Victory Seen In All Camps

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, May 16.—Here are the conflicting victory claims for tomorrow's primary election issued by the opposing camps:

F. Stephen Stahlacker, Pinchot campaign manager—"Pinchot by a majority of 150,000 or better."

James F. Torrance, James campaign manager—"100,000 votes more than Pinchot... may approach landslide proportions."

Albert H. Luder, Jr., Margiotti campaign manager—"At least 100,000 plurality over two opposing candidates... a sweeping victory."

J. Dress Pannell, Earle campaign manager—"We are going to win by a minimum of 300,000 votes... we do not concede a single county."

Edward N. Jones, Kennedy campaign manager—"Thomas Kennedy by a majority of at least 100,000... only six counties conceded."

To Election Boards

On Tuesday, the voters of the county will go to the polls and cast their ballots for their choices of candidates in the state primary election.

When the polls close at eight o'clock in the evening they will want to know as soon as possible how their candidates are faring and this information can come only from you.

Following its usual custom, The News wants to give the voters information as early and as often as possible. This it can do only with your co-operation and in past elections the boards of this county have been most courteous in furnishing returns.

Speaking for the people of the county The News asks every election board to call this office as soon as the count on any and all of the offices is finished Tuesday night. The News phone call is 4000.

Expect Heavy Primary Vote In County Tuesday

Only a few more hours of campaign oratory and charges remain, and at 7 o'clock Tuesday morning voters of New Castle and Lawrence county begin trekking to the polls to cast their ballots in one of the most heated primary campaigns seen in this state in years.

Charges of bribery and corruption have been hurled in the Democratic primary, charges of rubber stamped and boss controlled candidates have been made in both Republican and Democratic primaries, and for weeks the air has been heavy with campaign oratory. It all finishes tonight and the answer comes on Tuesday. A heavy vote is expected.

Encounter

(International News Service)

EAST PALESTINE, O., May 16.—Two members of a Youngstown bandit gang were shot and killed today when they walked into a police ambush in the attempted holdup of the Eagles Club here.

The dead men were identified by Youngstown detectives as Mike Lepushan, 23, and John Urko, 31, police said. They were shot by Sgt. M. A. Mock, of the state highway patrol, and East Palestine Police Chief Walter Warren.

Two Others Escape

Two other members of the gang escaped under fire.

Tipped there would be an attempted holdup, police established an ambush Saturday night, and waited in shifts until the bandits entered the club early this morning.

Lepushan and Urko entered the building, guns drawn, and forced Mock, who was in plain clothes, and janitor John Mansell to lie on the floor. They searched the two, but failed to find Mock's state revolver.

As the pair turned from him, Mock opened fire, killing one of the men. Chief Warren then rushed into the room and shot the other bandit. Both died instantly.

Fire At Fugitives

A third bandit, waiting at the door of the club, ran to a waiting automobile and fled.

Corporal W. E. Arey of the highway patrol and Deputy Sheriff John Herman fired at the fleeing bandit. They said they believed there was a fourth man waiting in the car.

Police said they had been told there would be a holdup Saturday night or early yesterday, but that they believed the gunmen changed their plans when they learned there was to be an initiation at the club last night. Approximately 300 men had left the building a short time before the attempted holdup.

Club officials said there was $400 in the safe.

MEXICO CITY, May 16.—Fears of a possible revolt in San Luis Potosi arose today to plague the government of President Lazaro Cardenas, already involved in a serious diplomatic snarl with Great Britain.

Acts To Halt Uprising.

Acting swiftly to squelch the threatened uprising, Cardenas rushed three regiments to San Luis Potosi. Fears were expressed General Saturnino Cedillo would lead a movement against the Cardenas regime, taking advantage of the oil dispute with London as an opportunity to strike.

At the city of San Luis Potosi, the federal troops occupied roof-tops and other strategic positions, setting up machine and anti-aircraft guns and preparing for any eventuality.

President Cardenas acted after Cedillo telegraphed his resignation from the post of divisionary general, pleading "illness".

(International News Service)

ATLANTA, Ga., May 16. known—Twenty-four persons were known to have perished in a fire which early today destroyed the five-story brick and frame Terminal Hotel.

Searching for the bodies of other victims, firemen used acetylene torches to cut their way through the tangled, twisted ruins of the structure. An almost impenetrable mass of warped steel pipes and the frames of steel beams hampered the rescue squads.

All available police and firemen and a group of convicts were called upon to aid in the work.

Worst Fire Disaster.

It was the most disastrous fire in the city's history from the standpoint of loss of life, and it was the fourth major fire at the Terminal hotel since it was erected shortly before the turn of the century.

Believed to have started in the kitchen of a restaurant on the ground floor, the flames spread with lightning-like rapidity, and by the time the first firemen reached the scene flames were belching from windows on all floors.

More than a dozen bodies were removed from the building after the flames were extinguished. The other victims died at hospitals.

Among the victims were four members of one family—a man, his wife and two small children—all unidentified. They were found in their charred room on an upper floor. The woman was seated in a chair, a small girl knelt at the bed, and the man and the other child were slumped across the bed.

A large crowd of parents and friends were entertained in a royal manner Sunday evening in Tifereth Israel synagogue when the local A. Z. A. junior order of B'nai B'rith, acted as host at a parents' day banquet.

When ample justice had been done to the appetizing viands set before them, the guests sat back in their chairs to enjoy the excellent program which had been prepared through the untiring efforts of Ted Martin, who introduced the toastmaster of the evening, Herschel Baltimore, who, in turn, introduced the president of the local organization, Morton Love, who expressed his appreciation to the parents and friends for their support.

Youth Suicides By Plane Leap

OMAHA, Neb., May 16.—Plunging 2,000 feet to his death from an airplane, Ward G. Fritz, 22, was believed by authorities today to have been despondent over losing his $18-a-week job as a grocer's clerk.

Fritz, an aspiring young dancer, plummeted from the plane over Council Bluffs, Ia. His body narrowly missed S. K. Park as it struck in the garden where Park was working.

Carl Addington, a friend of Park's was approaching the garden and heard the body whistle through the air. He looked up and saw it fifty feet above the ground but was unable to shout a warning before it crashed to the earth.

Police Keep Up Investigations

Group Of Queer Mountain People Of District Are Being Interrogated

GIRL NOW MISSING FOR EIGHT DAYS

BRADFORD, Pa., May 16.—Police today were questioning a group of queer mountain people found deep in the forest three miles south of White Gravel where four-year-old Marjory West disappeared eight days ago.

About a dozen families comprised the community. They live in shacks flung several feet apart through the hills. A dozen or more men live in other shacks, some as hermits. One of the hermits was unable to account for himself last May 8 and was being questioned by the State police although not taken formally into custody.

Several others in the tribe gave conflicting stories, according to police. The men in the colony cut wood for a living and seldom emerge from the forest. Most of them are illiterate and primitive in their development.

About 100 State police were still quartered here and at Kane on the investigation now in its eighth day. They were almost entirely concerned with criminal angles in the case.

Several others, trapped on the upper floors, leaped to the sidewalks below, and some died from the jump.

One man died from a window of the second floor, and by-standers urged him to jump. He succeeded in landing for a few minutes and then stepped back inside and was not seen again.

Scenes of intense horror were witnessed by crowds massed around the flaming building as firemen struggled to save as many of its 75 guests as they could in the face of the blaze.

CARDENAS SENDS TROOPS TO SQUELCH POSSIBLE REVOLT

Michoacan. Today, persistent reports that he had been seeking support of the dispossessed British and American oil companies for a rising against Cardenas were contemptuously dismissed by the president, who declared:

"There will be no uprising by Cardenas."

Seek To "Extinguish" Cedillo.

In other quarters, there were unofficial and entirely unconfirmed rumors that the government was trying to provoke Cedillo into starting trouble in order to "extinguish" him.

He was named military commander of Michoacan three weeks ago for the evident purpose of separating him from his private army of 15,000 agrarians in the state of San Luis Potosi.

Cedillo has been regarded with suspicion by the government ever since he was forced out of the ministry of agriculture some time ago, and even before that the Cardenas administration had regarded him as "a hard handle."

Cardenas' road-building program included provision for possible eventuality with Cedillo—a highway thru San Luis Potosi state to enable swift mobilization of the federal army there.

Anti-British Demonstration

The troops were dispatched to Cedillo's stronghold following a huge anti-British demonstration here and a statement by United States Consul General J. B. Stewart that American consuls in Mexico will not aid this country in selling her oil.

The statement denied Mexican newspaper reports claiming that consuls would certify shipments of Mexican oil as coming only from non-expatriated properties.

Twenty thousand public service employees paraded in Mexico City in an anti-British demonstration, carrying banners denouncing British "unusual attitude" toward this country.

Praising Cardenas for "standing up to the British lion" and breaking off diplomatic relations with London, scores of orators assailed Britain's alleged attempt to "intimidate a small country."

The demonstration originally had been planned to demand the right of workers to syndicalize. It turned into a show of patriotism.

Labor groups in many parts of the country passed resolutions commending Cardenas for his stand. But in the sectors hitherto hostile to Cardenas, there was a heavy silence.

whose western Chinese defense outposts were driven to cover in the city.

Chinese Trapped

Retreat of the Chinese to east and west was reported out off in furious fighting. Large numbers of Chinese troops are trapped in the Suchow area. The generalissimo ordered them not to surrender.

Other Japanese advances said the town of Fenghsien, northeast of Suchow, had been captured and that Japanese planes were bombing Chinese troops "retreating everywhere on the Lungshai front."

One thousand Chinese soldiers, including Major Changtun, were taken prisoner when Tschien, on the southwestern tip of Shantung province, was captured Saturday, the Japanese announced.

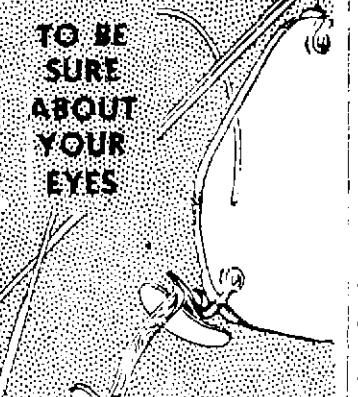

British Destroyer Takes Scrums

Meanwhile, it was reported from Hong Kong that the British destroyer Thracian was being sent at top speed to Amoy. Chinese port captured last week by the Japanese with anti-choleera and anti-typhoid serums. This was termed a precautionary measure.

As a result of the Japanese successes in the Lungshai sector, it was believed the million-strong Chinese army which inflicted a series of defeats on the Japanese in Shantung province a month ago is now facing disaster.

The week-end brought a merciless Japanese air attack on Suchow in which the city was bombed night and day, with from 1,500 to 2,000 killed and wounded. More than 7,500 are reported to have been killed and wounded there in the past week.

"I was investigating this when I was fired by Governor Earle for refusing to whitewash graft charged against higher ups in the administration. My investigation convinced me that Lawrence and McCloskey were guilty of selling the Sunday movie bill."

"This is the sale of legislation I referred to recently as being far worse than the sale of the beer bill for $20,000 by Lawrence and McCloskey. What I learned, I turned over to District Attorney Carl B. Shelley of Dauphin county to be submitted to the grand jury called to investigate graft and corruption on Capitol Hill."

Earle Stops Investigation

"Since Earle has succeeded in suspending justice until after the primary I feel that the public has a right to know the facts about the reprehensible deals. If Lawrence and McCloskey were sold legislation unless he were normalized there was no question of the Republican victory in the fall and reminded the crowd that he had appeared before the State Supreme court 18 times as attorney-general, and won all 18 cases. Other Meetings

Margiotti spoke at meetings in Hillsville, West Pittsburg and the Seventh ward before the Rosena lot meeting. In the Seventh ward he spoke in Columbus hall with L. J. Perillo, formerly chief deputy county treasurer as chairman of the meeting. Benny Rocco, candidate for state committee, also spoke.

From New Castle the group went to Ellwood City, where another meeting was held before returning to Pittsburgh.

Fifteen more appointments of election officials were announced today by Judge Thomas W. Dickson, adding to the already long list that have been appointed. For some reason this year has seen a tremendous increase in the number of vacancies in election boards. One of the contributing causes seems to be that a number of them are employed on the WPA and under the rules they are forbidden to serve as election officials.

FAITH

It is easy to allow ourselves to be stampeded into something which our sober sense will afterwards condemn—and it is not wise. The high pressure salesman or politician of today aims to sweep his customer off his feet by his arguments, and he is bitterly opposed to any delay in receiving an answer, for he knows very well that as soon as the one he is talking to gets away and begins to reflect, he will be very apt to see the matter in a different light. Many a bad bargain or promise has been the result of just such hurried decisions.

Tomorrow is Election Day. You can think twice, but only vote once.

IF VOTING RIGHT WAS DENIED TO YOU:

TOMORROW is primary election day in New Castle, Lawrence county and the remainder of the state of Pennsylvania.

Practically all of the eligible voters of this city and county can have an important part in the balloting, being registered in either the Democratic or Republican parties.

Suppose that by some turn of affairs orders were issued that ten thousand of these eligibles would be refused the right to vote at the primaries.

Imagine the revolt that would follow! There would be indignation meetings, protests, and fire-works of every kind.

Agitators from all over the state would flock to New Castle, there would be the greatest turmoil, there would be trouble of the gravest sort.

One would not know what might happen if such an edict went forth.

But, without any edict, the same result will probably develop tomorrow. By their own voluntary action there will probably be ten thousand of the eligible men and women in the county who will remain away from the polls, refusing to exercise their right of franchise.

No one is denying them the privilege of voting. They will by their own evasion of their civic duty and responsibility, fail to go to the polls.

Suppose they were forbidden the privilege? Are you one of the ten thousand?
GET OUT AND VOTE, TUESDAY!

ADVERTISING AN ESSENTIAL

Certain forms of expenditures are essential in business. A concern needs a good location, it needs quarters adequate to carry on its work. It must have a sufficient number of salespeople and clerks to meet the public and keep correct accounts.

Business authorities would agree that for most concerns, some form of advertising is also essential. If people are asked to buy a certain business, they should ask if it is well advertised. If the people know about it, if the impression is created in the public mind that it is giving good service, and has life and hustle.

An enterprise can't expect to succeed in these times, unless the people know about it, and think favorably of it. It takes many years to build up such an impression by any method other than advertising.

FUNDS FOR MORE G-MEN

In asking congress for funds to restore the G-men force to its normal strength President Roosevelt has taken welcome action. Only $108,000 is needed to put back the men who were laid off because of foolish economy.

This shortsightedness has already been held partly responsible for the death of one brave officer in the line of duty, who would ordinarily have been provided with an aide in attempting the arrest of a suspected bank robber. The sum now asked will carry the Federal Bureau of Investigation to July 1, when new appropriations will be available.

The adage, "penny wise, pound foolish," was never more clearly exemplified. The G-men are the nation's most aggressive advance guards in the war on crime. An administration that seems to think dollars grow on trees certainly can't afford to be niggardly in investing for the public safety.

NOTE OF ENCOURAGEMENT

Results of a survey presented by George Currier in the Illinois Journal of Commerce indicate that there has been a 15 per cent drop in automobile fatalities per mile of travel. In other words, the all time total of almost 40,000 killed in 1937 must be judged in terms of a more or less steady traffic increase.

This conclusion suggests that the safety campaigns being conducted in the several states are not lacking in constructive accomplishments despite the admittedly high and deplorable number of deaths recorded annually.

Of course, the nation will have nothing to brag about until it succeeds in reducing the yearly highway slaughter to a much greater extent. But Mr. Currier's finding at least offers the hope of a more or less steady improvement as individual motorists are educated to a keener realization of the vast importance of safe and careful driving.

FEARS OF YOUTH

According to the older folks, young people are always happy and care free. They have the marvelous gift of youth, and under ordinary conditions have many years of health and activity to look forward to. They are not supposed to be troubled with anxious fears for the future, or premonitions of the final end of life.

In a poem by Theresa Helburn, a different view of youth is expressed. "I can see her eyes grey with alarm," it reads. In imaginative language it pictures the "hooded future" as clutching at the arm of youth, expressing the thought that young people do worry about their future prospects.

Perhaps this is not surprising. When young people formerly went out into the world, they were practically sure of finding work at once. But many recent graduates can't find work, and are still idle. They have their longings for success and achievement, but what can they do if no one will hire them?

Youth has one great advantage that age does not. Youth rebounds quickly from a mood of discouragement.

American youth should not take its fears too seriously. Its power for achievement was never greater. Ways will be found for that power to express itself. When people go out in the world with ability to do things, that ability makes itself felt and is recognized. If it does not find its opportunity in one direction it will in some other.

Military men who bomb civilians may know best, but you couldn't pacify any man we know by killing his children.

Woman's mind is practical. The best woman says "pooh!" when told she mustn't break a rule that gets in her way.

Yes, we can meet Asia's competition in producing cotton. All we need is a few million people who can live a week on a dime's worth of rice.

The Parent Problem

By Garry C. Myers, Ph. D.

TEACH TOLERANCE IN HOME

In our home we have made it a practice, when any of the children, while young, dropped a remark suggesting contempt or ridicule of certain other children or families or groups of children who seemed queer to them in beliefs or ways of doing, to try to get the offender to see how very rude and wrong it is to say such things or to show such an intolerant attitude.

On the contrary, my wife and I have tried hard to lead our children to feel a kind regard for those who seem to have queer beliefs and practices. We have tried to show these children that if we had grown up in the homes of these other children, we would do and believe about as they do and believe.

As we hope, our efforts have proved wholesome, the effect depended on how well we ourselves cultivated proper attitudes and tolerances respecting others who seem queer.

It appears to me that we parents, teachers, Sunday school teachers and others who deal with youth, often have such opportunities to call to the attention of our children the character values those must get who have the courage to be different from others because of a moral principle or conviction they hold.

No matter how conscientious we ourselves may be, we properly might not choose to accept the faith or practices of certain other persons. Nevertheless, we can learn to admire them and lead our children to admire them; and the more struggle and self-sacrifice they exercise because of their convictions, the more they deserve our admiration. It takes a lot of character to be different from the crowd when the choice is one of moral principle, or to be one of a small minority. What America seems most to need are more people who have convictions and the courage of those convictions.

Parents Coerce Children

Now another side. Some very conscientious parents with very strong convictions, especially in religion, will try to coerce their children into accepting these parents' beliefs. A few will play on the heartstrings of their children, making them feel they dishonor their parents if they do not or embrace their faith.

As a rule, these parents fail to gain their ends and they lose the admiration and esteem of their children.

In the long run, the best principle to follow is this: So to live in our family and community that our children will choose of their own accord to emulate our ideals and beliefs. But sometimes, alas, we wish our children did not love us quite so much, lest they might imitate the worst in us as well as the best.

All Of Us

By MARSHALL MASLIN

THE PIT OF THE STOMACH

I have heard many sympathy concerts, seen many a play, attended many an exhibition of paintings, been invited on several occasions to meet a genius.

And I have heard many a critic "rave" about a concerto, a singer's voice, the line of a carving, the mastery of a landscape, the impact of some individual's "powerful personality."

Sometimes I have agreed with enthusiasm, sometimes I have been mildly appreciative, sometimes I have been cold. I am no critic, I know little of technique, I belong to that mass of common folk who know only what they like. All I ask, when I am in the presence of man's creation or nature's achievement, is: "Does it hit me in the pit of the stomach?"

Yes, it is a word or not? Does the thing as I supposed to admire hit me like a blow and leave me empty and in exquisite pain? If it does not, it is not for me to bother about. But if it does hit me in the pit of the stomach I need not try to explain why I believe it is good or true. It has proved itself. It is one of the things that last.

Why do I believe this? Because I remember our dark past when our dim forefathers lived. Although they died long ago, they are still living in us. They lived in a period of sharp and sudden shocks, fought desperately for existence, suffered like children in the dark, shouted for joy when fierce enemies were conquered, laughed in a kind of frenzy when famine was behind them and they could fill their lean bellies once more with food. Their deepest emotions were like blows in the pit of their stomachs.

And even now, although they are far behind us and we have progressed in so many ways, are ahead of them, it is still right for us to judge the truth of things by that feeling in the pit of the stomach.

That's how I feel the truth—and I believe my system will work for anybody. Critics may smile, high-brows may talk in four-syllable words, philosophers may dissect the impulses of man, psychologists may pin the emotions of men into books like insects on a board. Critics may scoff at your childishness.

But, though you may make an occasional mistake, nothing is true for you unless it has hit you a powerful blow right in the Pit of Your Stomach.

No matter how magnificent and expensive a dress may be, it is a failure if it does not flatter the figure it covers.

Readers' Questions Answered
Dear Miss Markel—Please straighten me out on the following:

1. Should a girl hold her man's companion's hat when they are seated in a theater, church, etc?

2. Should the girl lead the way in finding a seat at the theater, in a restaurant, etc?

3. Is it absolutely improper for a young woman to attend church services in a small town without wearing a hat?

4. At a bridge party may one begin eating as soon as all at her table are served or should she wait until all the tables have been served?

Answers: 1. No. The man should hold his own hat.

2. If there is an usher or a head-waiter in attendance, he should lead the way, the girl following and her escort last. If there is no such attendant, her companion should lead the way that he might find seats.

3. It is more dignified to wear a hat and then, too, some church laws forbid a woman to enter the church bare-headed.

4. She may begin when all at her table have been served.

The World At A Glance

Expect Depression End Soon
Debate Roosevelt's Successor
Depends On Business ConditionsBy LESLIE EICHEL,
Central Press Columnist

THE NEXT presidential election (1940) depends on the depression. The depression probably will be ended by then. Thus, look out for Roosevelt. That is the word spreading now.

And, from most indications, that is true.

Both the conservatives and the disaffected progressives seem to have sprung their bolts (on soon).

But some new figure may arise. In a man should arise who could consolidate all factions except the rank reactionaries. President Roosevelt could not be a candidate for re-election. He has proved an unwise chooser of men. Yet, by his own dint of power, he has carried his ideas on—at terrible sacrifice, of course. In the last two years, he has suffered more reverses than successes.

And why? He is attracted by showy men. He has permitted the real workers, the true executives, the loyal adherents to his ideals to be subordinated to men who is the ultimate test of battle prove weaklings.

HIS FAILING

President Roosevelt is not alone in his failing. Leaders of all times have been betrayed by their peculiar choice of lieutenants. And business executives are especially prone to it.

There are splendid executives in the government. But a Roosevelt is not one to put his faith in them, except on rare occasions. They do not appeal to his eye.

Nor has the president the courage, in the face of the split in the Democratic party, to face down the politicians or to exterminate the reactionary bosses, such as Mayor Frank Hague of Jersey City.

This leader of the Democrats in New Jersey, one of the chief labor states, is a man who is so fanatically anti-labor (and anti-New Deal) that, even conservative Democrats blush when they speak of him.

The World And The Mud Puddles

SOMEWHAT MIXED

The divorce courts of these United States are very busy these days. More than one-half of the cases brought are now either divorce or annulment affairs. The story's bark of many of these cases are interesting and the entanglements very amusing. I know of one that is a whiz. The names are purely fictitious.

Susie Throw was tired of her husband and her husband was tired of her. Susie was enamored of the husband of Jennie Doe and Jennie Doe's husband was anxious to marry Susie. Jennie Doe did not care much for her husband; in fact, she was very much in love with another man and the man had promised to marry her if she could get a divorce. Susie had considerable money, so she talked it over with Jennie and down into Mexico they went and filed their divorce suits in the Mexican Court. Susie financed the trip and expenses. The two husbands willingly appeared in their respective actions, thereby giving the Mexican Court jurisdiction of all the parties and the two divorces were promptly granted.

Thereafter, Susie married Jennie Doe's husband, but Jennie's lover contracted a serious case of cold feet and he balked Jennie became very indignant, and caused the arrest of her former husband, then married to Susie, charging him with bigamy and the poor sap is now in California, jailed, waiting his trial for bigamy. Jennie alleged in her charge of bigamy that the Mexican divorce was a nullity.

Susie likewise developed cold feet and finding that Jennie's husband was not all that she thought him, immediately filed her suit for annulment. It was alleged that the Mexican divorce was a nullity. The annulment was granted, although the bigamy charge has not as yet been sustained, and Susie promptly married another man.

Solemn in all of his glory might have some difficulty in untangling this skein.

INSISTENT CARE

If one could run away from care I'd say: Get out and run!

But duty follows everywhere.

Insistent to be done.

And should you scupper off to play.

The trouble you escape today.

Tomorrow would be back.

You cannot leave your care behind.

And vain is it to try.

The task you shrink you'll wake to find.

Tomorrow standing by.

And should you think you'd found a way.

To hide from troubles small.

On you, before another day.

Some larger woes would fall.

If you with trouble would be done.

Stand up and see it through!

Remember, care can always run.

The mile as fast as you.

And wherefore you may ledge.

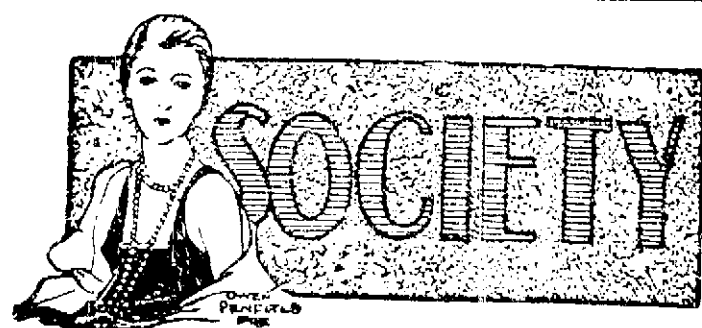

From fearsome hills to hide.

You'll find the woe you tried to dodge.

Grown worse and multiplied.

Miss Josephine Kresowaty, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leo Kresowaty, and Joseph Owoc, son of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Owoc, were united in marriage in the Holy Trinity National Catholic church, corner of South Jefferson street and Miller avenue, Saturday morning at 10 o'clock, with Rev. A. Walchewicz officiating.

The bride presented a charming picture in a gown of white marquisette, Princess style, with puffed sleeves, and a long veil, Juliet style. She carried white rose buds and baby breath.

Later in the day the young couple left on a honeymoon trip to Washington, D. C. On their return they will reside in a new apartment on Moravia street. Both are employed at the National Paint Company.

Newlyweds Honored

Returns From High School Entrance Examination Are Incomplete

Although a number of inquiries have been received from pupils of the rural eighth grades, who took the high school entrance examinations on Saturday, results will not be available for about ten days. County Superintendent of schools John C. Sylling announced today.

Correction of the papers is left in the hands of a committee from the different districts and the complete reports are generally not received until some little time after the test has been given.

Parent-Teacher Associations
PARENT DAY AT SHENANGO
Parents' day at Shenango Township Consolidated school was held on Friday, May 13. Over one hundred and seventy-five parents and friends were registered.

One hundred and forty-four children were given the toxoid treatment for diphtheria by Dr. Paris Shoaff, forty-three of these being pre-school children.

In the afternoon a splendid program was given by the first five grades of the school, which completed the program for the day.

On Monday evening at the school the last meeting of the Parent-Teacher association for this year will be held. At this meeting the installation of officers for the new year will take place with Mrs. C. R. Brenner, county president, in charge. Those taking office at this time are: President, Mrs. Edward Earl; vice president, Frank Nocera; treasurer, S. W. McCollough; secretary, Mrs. Margaret Robinson.

TO INSTALL OFFICERS
Installation of officers will take place tonight at 8 o'clock at the monthly meeting of the Union Township Parent-Teachers Association. The meeting will be held in the township high school building, Scotland Lane.

Past presidents will be special guests for the evening. Miss Margaret Stiel and Miss Nellie Stoughlen, two Westminster College students, will be on the program with musical selections. Readings will be given by Shirley Snyder.

NATIONAL AIR MAIL WEEK
MAY 15-21, 1938
New Castle citizens this week are "taking to the air" as far as their mailing is concerned—just ask the post office! They're taking National Air Mail Week seriously, and rightly so.

Assistant Postmaster James G. Leslie shortly after noon was informed by Clyde M. Stevens, chief of the local office's air mail division that outgoing airmail "is unusually heavy". It's the heaviest, in fact, it has been in a long time.

Postmaster Richard A. Steen and other officials believe that the office will see its biggest air mail week before the final day of the week-long celebration, Saturday, May 21, comes round.

WASHINGTON AT A GLANCE

Many Abuses Are Shown In Probes

Congressional Investigations Cause Investigated Ones To Squirm

SYMPATHIZERS FILLED WITH JOY

Central Press Washington Bureau
612 Times Herald Bldg.
By CHARLES F. STEWART
Central Press Columnist

WASHINGTON, May 16.—A congressional investigation is an enjoyable proceeding to anyone who chooses to be in sympathy with it. Such an inquiry is much more interesting, however, to one whose sympathies are contrarian.

An occasional legislative quiz really is impartial.

Usually its purpose is to make out a case, one way or the other. It is, in short, a prosecution, with no judge to insist that the defense be given even a modicum of fair play.

NOT AS IN COURT
In a court of law, if a listener-in believes the witness at the bar to be a guilty miscreant, he (the listener-in) is likely to be treated by the technicalities which seem to favor the guilty.

The accused interest in a congressional investigation is permitted to avail itself of no legalities. Witnesses against it are given free rein. Witnesses in its favor are "panned" mercilessly. Now and then one of them stands on his constitutional right not to incriminate himself, but this virtual admission that he is a criminal is not particularly good defensive testimony.

Well, as previously remarked, if the listener-in believes that the accused interest OUGHT to be convicted, he warmly indorses this procedure.

RESULTS!

It gets results. There is no mistake about it.
Congressional inquisitors do not send anyone actually to jail (except, once in a while, a recalcitrant witness) but they do uncover a lot of large-scale abuses that the courts cannot expose, for one reason or another. Thus the way is paved for removal legislation.

Briefly, what a congressional investigation really is publicity.

WATCH 'EM SQUIRM!

It is desirable. It makes the average listener-in wiggle with satisfaction to observe representatives of the selfish, Tory interests squirm on the congressional investigational witness stand, and to hear them complain that they never could be compelled to answer such questions before a judicial tribunal.

Oh, I am a believer in congressional investigations.

Nevertheless, now and then there is one which verges on the asinine.

THY EXTERMINATE

Most legislative investigations exterminate that which ought to be exterminated—as in the Tropics. Domestic inquiry, for example.

At long intervals there is an inquiry which aims not to exterminate but to build up.
Senator Burton K. Wheeler's railroad "probe" has been a specimen.

Our transportation system is "in the soup," to express it mildly.

The rail lines are gasping to be fished out of it.

The situation involves rails, autos, inland and coastal water transport and aviation.

AS STEWART SEES IT

In this group the railroads are the basic industry.

They (the managements) always have hated Senator Wheeler, as a top-rearing radical.

His publicity suits them at present.

It seems to me reasonable. I like his line of publicity.

But I do not like the brand of publicity of Senator Sherman Minton of Indiana, who seeks, through his congressional committee on so-called propaganda, to muzzle the press.

EDENBURG

MISSIONARY MEETING

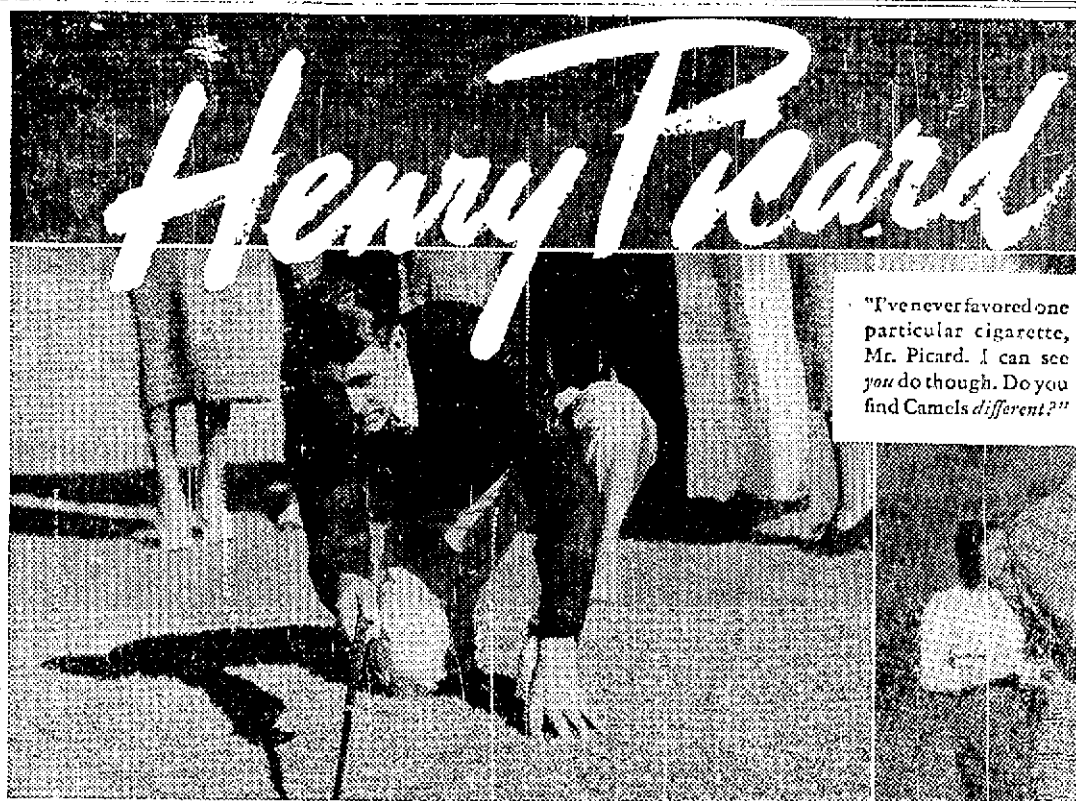

The Young Women's Home Missionary society of the Methodist church met at the home of Mrs. Tom Nelson on the Edensburg-Hillsville road on Friday evening. Mrs. Robert Hammers was program leader. Those assisting were Mrs. A. A. Swanson, Mrs. Roy Unangst, Mrs. Charles Louden and Mrs. Ray Bidle. Refreshments were served by the hostess, assisted by several girls.

DINNER GUESTS

Mrs. Carl Rodgers entertained the following guests at dinner in her home on Thursday: Mrs. John Evans of Ellwood City, Mrs. Carl Bowder of Beaver Falls, Mrs. Ivan Walter of Boardman, O., Mrs. Chas. Robinson of Pulaski road and Mrs. R. D. Walter of Lowellville road.

BASEBALL MEETING

All those interested in the baseball club will meet Monday evening at 7:30 at the home of Edgar Leeper on Crawford avenue.

LOOKS THE SITUATION OVER!

"I've never favored one particular cigarette, Mr. Picard. I can see you do though. Do you find Camels different?"

Picard's game seems effortless. He's a long driver—in a tight spot, a heady strategist. "A cigarette, too, has to be sized up from a lot of angles," he says.

FAMOUS GOLFERS—men who need iron nerves and steady hands for that winning stroke—and millions of other people under the strain of everyday life—all appreciate this fact: Camels suit your cigarette taste from every angle. Naturally, CAMELS SET YOU RIGHT! There's a world of enjoyment in a cigarette like that. Smoke Camels yourself. See why they are so different. And note particularly the greater pleasure and contentment you experience from Camels' costlier tobacco!

"LOADING SHIP" is a 60-hour stretch," says Captain Francis Dolan, "a man can't be fussy about food. I like a few Camels during and after meals 'for digestion's sake.' I sure like the comfort and contentment of Camels at mealtimes."

HELEN STANSBURY, Director of Women's Traffic for United Air Lines, says on the subject of cigarettes: "I choose Camels for their mildness and good rich taste. They're never harsh. When the pace I go fatigues me, a Camel gives me a 'lift.'"

TOBACCO PLANTERS SAY:

"We smoke Camels because we know tobacco"

At auctions, Marvin Holloman, well-known planter, sees Camel buyers pay top prices for the finer grades of his crops. Mr. Holloman says: "At auctions the Camel buyers pay more and take the real choice lots of tobacco. That's why we tobacco planters, who know tobacco quality inside and out, make Camel our cigarette. Then we're sure we're smoking finer, COSTLIER tobaccos, and they sure make a big difference!"

"I'm a tobacco planter," says Mr. T. Strickland, who sold his highest grade tobacco to Camels. "Last year those Camel buyers bought up the finest lots of my tobacco. And they sure bid up to get them. There's a big difference in those expensive Camel tobaccos—so I smoke Camels myself. And there's your reason why most planters I know smoke Camels."

John T. Bone, who cultivates some of North Carolina's choicest leaf tobacco, remarks on the sale of his last crop: "Yes sir! I saw my best lots go for Camel cigarettes, and you can bet those Camel buyers paid top prices for them. It's no wonder I smoke the cigarette made of finer, more expensive tobaccos—Camels! Most planters who grow tobacco know tobacco."

Will Beautify Library Grounds

Men's Garden Club Plan To Begin Work At Public Library Thursday Evening

TREES, SHRUBS TO BE PUT IN PLACE

Plans have now been completed by the Men's Garden Club to beautify the grounds surrounding the new public library building, corner of North and Mercer streets. According to J. W. Anderson, who is in charge of this work of the club, the men will all meet at the library grounds at 6:30 o'clock Thursday evening. Each man will be armed with his shovel and will immediately begin work.

It is expected that a good many of the small trees and shrubs will be in place before dark on Thursday night. A definite plan for planting the greens has been laid out by the club committee, and this arrangement will be both artistic and attractive. Several different types of shrubbery has been secured and will be planted at the library to enhance the beauty of the corner.

Those on the committee from the garden club who will be in charge of the work include: J. W. Anderson, son, chairman; Owen Penfield Fox and Earl M. Kyle. These men will be assisted by all of the members of the club.

At the present time a beautiful lawn is all that surrounds the library building, and the addition of the proposed greenery will add a great deal to the beauty and attractiveness of the corner.

Miss McCurdy Pens Winning Theme In Life Insurance Contest

Short and to the point, the life insurance essay penned by Miss Bernice McCurdy, daughter of the pastor of Spworth M. E. church, Ray and Mrs. H. A. McCurdy won a $10 prize from judges who picked essay winners for the Pittsburgh Life Underwriters' association contest.

Miss McCurdy, who lives on Adams street, was presented her prize at a banquet at the Ellwood City Country club last week.

Her essay:

"WHETHER I LIVE OR DIE"
I am just an ordinary man. There is nothing unusual about me. I am only one of the millions who invest in life insurance. Because whether I live or die, I want to be sure my family will be provided for. I won't take the chance for the future that my neighbors did.

Mr. Smith was a good citizen. His job was steady and he thought dependable. He didn't realize he was getting old. Then one day his boss told him he was sorry, but he couldn't use him anymore. He explained that what this country needed was young blood. His position was filled by a young man married with new ideas. Mr. Smith was shocked. This couldn't happen to him. But it did. Everywhere he went it was the same story. They wanted young blood. Now he sits at home, reading the newspaper. Did I say at home? Yes, but not at his own home. He and his wife are living with their married daughter! Sponging off his son-in-law! Why? Because he couldn't see ahead to the day when he wouldn't be earning money, and when they came, he wasn't prepared.

Mr. Jones was an efficient business man. He thought of everything except life insurance. Instead, he put his money in a "sure-fire" investment. Wednesday, Mr. Jones learned that his investment had failed. Saturday he was killed by an automobile. Mrs. Jones had no source of income that would pay her family's bills. Now she is asking, "Why? Because her husband couldn't understand the advantages of protection through life insurance."

But I am Mr. Brown. Whether I live or die, my family will be taken care of by a dependable investment called life insurance.

Michigan Congressman Shows New Deal Spending

By ARTHUR C. WIMER
Special Washington Correspondent
New Castle News

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 16—After a two month study of Treasury Department figures, Representative Engle, Republican of Michigan has given Congress some eye-opening figures on New Deal spending.

The issue of Mr. Engle's unchallenged conclusions is that the New Deal Congress has appropriated and authorized to be appropriated 43.8 per cent as much as the entire cost of Government for 14 years from the first day of George Washington's Administration to July 1, 1933 and 43.7 per cent of the assessed valuation of the 48 states. Mr. Engle cites figures to fortify his reasoning.

According to Treasury's Department records, the cost of Federal Government from Washington's oath of office to July 1, 1933 totaled $134,222,069.584. This included costs of the World War and four other wars. It included the purchase of Louisiana, Alaska, and the Philippine Islands. It included construction of the Panama Canal—all major expenditures plus the ordinary cost of operating the Government in this 144 years.

From July 1, 1933—the first fiscal year beginning under the Roosevelt Administration—to the end of the 1937 fiscal period, Congress appropriated or authorized to be appropriated $58,714,351.125. This sum, Mr. Engle emphasizes, represents expenditures approximating 43.8 per cent of the entire $134,222,069 cost of Government for the 144 years after Washington first took office as president. Here are some of the congressman's conclusions:

"We are amazed to learn from these tables taken from the Treasury Department records that during the fiscal years ending June 30, 1934, 1935, 1936 and 1937, or during the first term of President Roosevelt's Administration, we have actually spent $1,255,164,048, more than it cost the Government from the first day of George Washington's first term of office down to the World War.

"We are amazed to learn that Congress, has appropriated and authorized to be appropriated during the six fiscal years of the present Administration a sum that equals 43.8 per cent of the cost of operating this Government during the 144 year period above referred to.

"We are amazed to learn that Congress in six years' time has appropriated or authorized to be appropriated a sum that equals 43.7 per cent of the assessed valuation of every piece of real and personal property on the assessment rolls by the local assessing officers in the 48 states as that valuation was fixed in 1935."

CHEWTON

CELEBRATE WEDDING ANNIVERSARY

Reminiscent of the exchange of their wedding vows 42 years ago, Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Guy, Jr., of Chewton were the guests of honor at a celebration given by their relatives at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ellis P. Guy on the Ellwood-Warrenton road Thursday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Guy were married at the M. E. parsonage in Wampum by the then pastor, Rev. George B. Carr of the Erie conference.

A very jolly evening was spent by those present in talking over old times. A splendid address was given by C. P. Durbin of the Chewton Christian church, Mrs. Solsberg, Mrs. Sprunker and others.

In keeping with the spirit of the occasion, Mr. and Mrs. Guy were rewarded by C. P. Durbin after which congratulations were in order which was the occasion for much merry making and serenading. The only thing to mar this part of the program was the fact that the bridegroom had forgotten a sack of candy for the "kids." At an appropriate hour a delicious luncheon was served by the hostess, Mrs. Ellis Guy, and her assistants.

Many useful gifts were received by Mr. and Mrs. Guy, who wished them many more years of happy married life.

Their immediate family, Ellis of Ellwood City, Leslie of Wilkesburg, Pa., and Mrs. Carl Reinhardt of Monaca, Pa., were present. Those who attended the celebration were Mr. and Mrs. Bert Guy, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Guy, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Guy of New Brighton, Mr. and Mrs. M. E. Solsberg, Mrs. C. V. Price and son and W. H. Cole of Ellwood City, Mr. and Mrs. William Sprunker, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Kelly of Chewton, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Reinhardt and son of Monaca, Pa., Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Guy and daughter of Wilkesburg, Pa., and Mr. and Mrs. Ellis Guy and daughter of Ellwood City and C. P. Durbin of Chewton, a friend of the families.

In brief, coming from Mr. Jones, this lecture to the banks, it is contended could be cited if there were space, have him talk that way, but "suppose he has to every once in a while."

VARIOUS other non-cooperative moves upon the part of the Administration, following Mr. Hanes' widely heralded co-operation plan, could be cited if there were space. The point is that these staged "get-together" efforts all end the same way. The thing has been tried and failed enough times to make its futility clear. Mr. Roosevelt still believes he can spend his way back to prosperity. Despite a gigantic failure, costing sixteen billions; despite his own recorded words and despite the practically unanimous disapproval of big and little business men, he is bent upon trying the same thing again. The only "practical suggestion" a business man could make to him is "don't," and that he won't take. Mr. Hanes is an earnest young man, who apparently hasn't added things up in Washington yet. The time will come when he, along with the business men who have been used so often in this co-operation game, will wonder why their common sense didn't tell them they were wasting their time.

Hague's end in a short time, if he put up a fight. But it is strange that Mr. Roosevelt has put up no fight against those who curb or destroy civil liberties. Even his closest followers are puzzled by this.

BUT IN ESSENCE—

Despite this falling in the choice of lieutenants, President Roosevelt remains the leading figure in the nation.

Senator Robert M. La Follette makes a valiant fight for civil liberties and labor, but his brother, Governor Philip, in launching a third party, spoke disparagingly of government relief. And whether we will or not, relief will become a paramount issue. It will be federalized. And there will be a cabinet department of welfare. Congress will be forced into that by events themselves.

Frightened by Tory attacks some years ago, the president destroyed a large part of the federal relief

New Trial For Cox May Not Be Held Until November

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, May 16.—Rev. Father James R. Cox, Pittsburgh priest who stood trial last week on charges arising out of a "garden stakes" contest conducted here last fall, will not be re-tried until November, it was indicated today.

The priest was acquitted of a conspiracy charge by a jury which failed to reach agreement on 12 other counts in the indictment. It was learned that Oliver K. Eaton, Father Cox's counsel, had notified United States Attorney John D. Ray that he would be unable to defend the case again until November.

The government charged the $25,000 contest was a fraudulent lottery. Three other persons were acquitted of all counts while a fourth was convicted.

Demented Man Slays Mother; Attacks Four Others In Family

Wields Ax In Vicious Attacks

Two Brothers And Two Sisters Of Philadelphia Man May Not Survive

SAY ATTACKER WAS HOSPITAL FUGITIVE

(International News Service) PHILADELPHIA, May 16.—Horribly slashed by blows of a 30 inch ax wielded by a demented brother who first slew their mother before attacking them while they slept, two brothers and two sisters lay in hospital beds at the point of death today. Police said the attacker, Dr. Joseph Abraham Bozartian, 36, was a fugitive from Byberry hospital. Creeping through the house in which the family, police said, had been sleeping, Bozartian, a dentist, hacked his mother, Pharis, 62, to death; mangled his four brothers and sisters while they were sleeping Sunday morning, and attempted suicide after setting fire to the modest North Philadelphia residence.

Victims May Die. The victims were given but small chance to recover. They are Dorothy, 24; Hattie, 26; John, 28; and Louis, 32.

Doctors at Philadelphia General hospital where Bozartian was taken in a straight-jacket, said he will survive burns and self-inflicted abdominal slashes.

Dr. Wilbur P. Rickett, superintendent of the institution from which Bozartian fled two months ago, denounced the family for sheltering "a man they were warned was capable of murder." They took the risk to recapture the fugitive, but Mayor S. Davis Wilson blamed the hospital.

"If this man was a dangerous criminal," the mayor said, "he should never have been given ground parole."

New Stamp Recalls Lindbergh Flight

The United States air mail, whose wings today cast their shadow from Bangor, Me., to Honolulu, and from the Canal Zone to China, will today commemorate with a bright new spread-eagle stamp, the event of that doubtful morning 11 years ago when Charles Augustus Lindbergh, an unknown flyer, took off from Roosevelt field for Paris.

"That wasn't so very long ago," said Paul R. Younts, national chairman of Air Mail Week, as he made the Lindbergh stamp announcement. "Yet we are celebrating Lindbergh's first flight across the Atlantic as historical."

Lindy made the flight May 21, 1927.

Pity Poor Map Makers And Geography Teachers!

Pity the poor map makers these days. And the geography teachers. And the kids who have to look at the maps and remember that things aren't what they seem.

When you were a kid in school and you looked at the map, the places were what the map said they were. Great Britain was Great Britain and Austria-Hungary was just that. Then came the war.

What was part of Austria-Hungary became Czechoslovakia and Yugoslavia. What was Russia had half a dozen other names. Estonia, Latvia, Lithuania, Poland and a couple of others. Persia disappeared from the map and became Iran.

The map makers got over that all right but in the past few years they have been running around in circles.

Relief Rolls Show Increase

(International News Service) HARRISBURG, May 16.—Direct relief rolls zoomed to the highest level in almost four months today as the department of public assistance announced a net rise of 3,792 cases, comprising 12,893 persons during the week.

The latest climb in relief rolls—the third successive week in which the case load increased—was the largest since the week of January 22, just prior to payment of unemployment compensation benefits and a marked expansion of WPA activity that aided in launching a downward trend in state-financed relief.

Cessation of unemployment benefits, continued layoffs in private industry, and an abrupt slackening of WPA activity to its lowest level in six weeks were cited by Public Assistance Secretary Arthur W. Howe, Jr., as the chief reasons for the present upward flight of relief rolls.

Mrs. Joseph P. Kennedy is the eighth Bostonian to preside as hostess at the U. S. embassy in London.

What was one thing when they went to bed was something else before they finished their tomato juice in the morning.

Youngsters studying the maps today are told that what the map calls Ethiopia is now a part of Italy. What was once Austria is now a part of Germany.

Spain is anybody's guess. By the time they get through fighting there won't be much left but the ground and nobody knows who will claim that.

One Key Is Held Insufficient For A Family Of 15

PORTLAND, Or.—A mother and her fourteen children were asked by Portland police to buy a few more keys to their house so that other persons living in the same neighborhood might get some sleep.

Complaints received by police indicated there was only a single key to the house, and children arriving home after the others had gone to bed were forced to attract attention as best they could. On one Saturday evening, neighbors complained, cordwood was bounced off the roof, three windows were broken, the front door was beaten with a shovel and finally a window was "bombed" before entrance was made.

DID YOU READ THIS EDITORIAL?

In the Sunday, May 15, issue of the Pittsburgh Press, there appeared the following significant editorial, based upon an article by Raymond Clapper, a nationally known political observer and writer.

In Washington, D. C., he represents the United Press. Read this editorial and remember that Raymond Clapper has no personal interest in the Pennsylvania primary.

THE G. O. P. CAMPAIGN

RAYMOND CLAPPER, writing from Washington, made an interesting observation on the Pennsylvania political campaign yesterday when he said that the results of the Republican primary would give a clear tip as to where that party is going.

This observation was based on the feeling that extreme conservatives in the party, backed by the wealth of Joseph Pew, were making an effort to nominate Judge Arthur H. James—and that his nomination would be a repudiation of those who have sought to liberalize the Republican Party.

At almost the same time G. Edward Green, Republican state chairman, cast aside the neutrality he had previously maintained in the Republican contest and hotly denounced Mr. Pew. Judge James, he said, had been hand-picked by the Philadelphia oil millionaire.

"Ever since Joe Pew forced himself on the Republican organization," the state chairman charged, "we have had nothing but defeat. The people have at all times repudiated his domination of the Republican Party, and rest assured they will do it again."

It was, of course, interesting to see some fireworks on the Republican side of the political fence, because the Democrats had enjoyed (or it might be more accurate to say, had "suffered") a monopoly on the fireworks previously. But the exchange was not only interesting, but important.

This paper believes in two strong parties, as the best means of getting good government. We would like to see a revitalized Republican Party facing the strong Democratic Party. The Democrats have had things too much their own way for the last few years, just as the Republicans did for many years previously.

Any party which is dominant tends to get corrupt and selfish and careless. Nothing serves so well to keep a party alert and honest as the realization that there is a strong opposition watching what it does and alert to take advantage of any misdeeds.

We believe Mr. Green was right when he said that the Republican Party cannot be revived under the leadership of the extreme reactionary forces which are behind Judge James in this campaign. And that Raymond Clapper was right when he said that the outcome will give a good tip as to where the party is going.

What he obviously meant was that the nomination of Mr. James would be an indication that it was going nowhere. And we think that view is correct.

The editorial has presented the facts correctly. The nomination of Gifford Pinchot for governor will be an indication that the Republican party is liberalizing itself. Nominate Arthur James and you serve notice on the country at large that the Republican party has not yet learned its lesson, that it is still dominated by reactionaries, that it isn't going any place.

Nominate Gifford Pinchot and the Republican party will win in November. It can't win with its candidate carrying Joe Pew as extra burden. Let's serve notice that money won't buy this nomination. In spite of the shameful expenditures for James, let's show them Lawrence county still votes as it thinks.

ARTHUR B. FOSTER,
Chairman.

Male Voice Party Entertains Throng

Union Service Is Held At Mahoningtown Presbyterian Church Sunday Night

Sunday evening at the Mahoningtown Presbyterian church, the New Castle Male Voice party, under the direction of Professor Elmer Kanagy, and accompanied by Miss Ann Thomas, gave a splendid concert. The group performed before an overflow crowd in the church auditorium.

The audience expressed their appreciation for the musical renditions. The program consisted of choruses, double quartet, and solos.

This was union service for the Seventh ward and the Christian Methodist, and Presbyterian church congregations joined in the event.

The Rev. D. C. Schnebly, pastor of the Presbyterian church, was in charge of the event and made the announcement of the various numbers.

Rev. Milton E. Shearer, pastor of the Madison Avenue Christian church, and Rev. C. H. Hagadorn, of the Methodist church, aided with the service. Rev. W. W. Sniff, former pastor of the Madison Avenue Christian church, led the group in a closing prayer.

Rev. Stephen Revak, the pastor, is enthusiastic in his praise of these good people who worked so hard in order to have their own place in which to worship. He expresses appreciation to every citizen of New Castle who contributed to the project.

The Hungarian Baptist mission work began in New Castle over 30 years ago, and although material hardships have been met during depression times, the little congregation has maintained a valiant spirit and has emerged victorious.

When prospects for a church of their own seemed darkest, and they were holding meetings in a little mission house on Wilson avenue, a bequest of $1000 was left to the church fund by the late Joseph Demeter of Wampum. The members raised another thousand among themselves and the third thousand necessary to begin construction of a church was raised in the Hungarian congregations of the Northern Baptist convention.

Dr. Deer delivered an inspiring sermon, intensely interesting and uplifting to every listener. In behalf of the Pennsylvania Baptist convention he presented the Hungarian Baptist congregation of New Castle with a sum of $300 to use toward deferring the cost of their new church. The congregation added to this amount, in cash and pledges, $1000.

Representatives from the Mahoningtown Methodist church will attend the Epworth league spring rally to be held tonight in the Epworth M. E. church. The session will begin at 7:15 o'clock, and Rev. S. L. Maxwell, Oil City, will be the speaker.

Monthly party for members of the church choir will be held tonight at the home of Mrs. M. R. Olmstead, Sixth street.

Tuesday evening, the Signal Light Bible class will hold a meeting at the home of Mrs. J. R. Daugherty, Sunnyside.

Wednesday evening at 6 o'clock, all persons interested in a church tennis team will meet at the Maple street court.

Hungarian Church Is Dedicated Sunday

HUNGARIAN BAPTIST CHURCH

Sunday was a happy day for the Hungarian people of New Castle for they dedicated their handsome new brick church which has been erected near the corner of Long and Cunningham avenues.

Over capacity crowds attended the dedicatory services Sunday morning, afternoon and evening. The auditorium was completely filled and the overflow was placed in the basement. An amplifying system brought the programs to the people in the basement. It is estimated that 450 people attended throughout the day.

Three hundred guests were at the banquet tables in Or' hall, Grove street, at one o'clock Sunday afternoon.

The program was carried out just about as it had been announced. Dr. C. H. Heaton, pastor of the First Baptist church of New Castle, presided at the afternoon service and introduced as guest speaker Dr. Roy B. Deer, executive secretary of the Pennsylvania Baptist convention.

Dr. Deer delivered an inspiring sermon, intensely interesting and uplifting to every listener. In behalf of the Pennsylvania Baptist convention he presented the Hungarian Baptist congregation of New Castle with a sum of $300 to use toward deferring the cost of their new church. The congregation added to this amount, in cash and pledges, $1000.

Representatives from the Mahoningtown Methodist church will attend the Epworth league spring rally to be held tonight in the Epworth M. E. church. The session will begin at 7:15 o'clock, and Rev. S. L. Maxwell, Oil City, will be the speaker.

Monthly party for members of the church choir will be held tonight at the home of Mrs. M. R. Olmstead, Sixth street.

Tuesday evening, the Signal Light Bible class will hold a meeting at the home of Mrs. J. R. Daugherty, Sunnyside.

Wednesday evening at 6 o'clock, all persons interested in a church tennis team will meet at the Maple street court.

Wednesday morning at 9 o'clock, Mrs. Fred Flowers section of the Ladies Aid, will meet in the church.

ACCIDENT VICTIM LEAVES HOSPITAL

The new church is appraised at around $11,000 but it cost the congregation just $8,000. This is due to the fact that Hungarian members and friends took upon their own shoulders a large share of the labor. By giving their own time and energy they built the edifice at a very low cost.

Rev. Stephen Revak, the pastor, is enthusiastic in his praise of these good people who worked so hard in order to have their own place in which to worship. He expresses appreciation to every citizen of New Castle who contributed to the project.

The Hungarian Baptist mission work began in New Castle over 30 years ago, and although material hardships have been met during depression times, the little congregation has maintained a valiant spirit and has emerged victorious.

When prospects for a church of their own seemed darkest, and they were holding meetings in a little mission house on Wilson avenue, a bequest of $1000 was left to the church fund by the late Joseph Demeter of Wampum. The members raised another thousand among themselves and the third thousand necessary to begin construction of a church was raised in the Hungarian congregations of the Northern Baptist convention.

Dr. Deer delivered an inspiring sermon, intensely interesting and uplifting to every listener. In behalf of the Pennsylvania Baptist convention he presented the Hungarian Baptist congregation of New Castle with a sum of $300 to use toward deferring the cost of their new church. Pirates Upset Chicago Cubs

Pittsburgh Goes Into Second Place By Victory In Extra-Inning Game

GROVE PITCHES SOX TO VICTORY

By PAT ROBINSON
International News Service Sports Writer

NEW YORK, May 16.—At 38, Robert Moses Grove, the lean left-hander from Lonaconing, Md., is pitching better than when he was in his prime.

When a pitcher starts crowding 40, he's supposed to be ready for the baseball graveyard, but on the authority of Connie Mack and the hitters who face him, Grove is harder to beat now than he was when he was winning pennants for the Mackmen.

Travis Senators

He kept the Red Sox at the top of the league yesterday by trimming Weaver and the Senators 4-2, it was his sixth straight victory without a defeat, and the eighth straight triumph for the Red Sox.

Don't over-look Cronin's team. They have what it takes—good pitching, a pretty right defense and good hitting. Jimmy Fox, who is leading both leagues with eight homers and 39 runs driven in, seems to be headed for a big year, and so long as he and Grove keep going at top speed, the Red Sox will be tough to take.

In the only other American League game, the Browns downed the hapless Tigers, 4-1, in a game shortened to five innings by rain. Oral Hildebrand gave the same Tigers only two hits.

Pirates Top Cubs

The Pirates moved up into second place in the National League at the expense of the Cubs whom they trimmed 4-3 in eleven innings. Dickshot drove in the winning run but homers by Brubaker and Rizzo were the pay-off wallop.

The Cards and Reds staged their second ten inning slugfest in as many days and again the Cards came through, 12-11, a pinch hit by Popper Martin turning the trick.

The Brees outslugged the Dodgers to win 10 to 7. Moore, Mueller and Cucinello homered for the Brees and Camilli and Phelps retailed for the Dodgers.

The Giants and Phils were idle.

Rambling Around World Of Sports

This and that in baseball land . . . today, we received a neatly written note . . . we have been asked in such a nice manner to print the contents . . . so, bear with us.

Dear Rambling Reporter:

I think the Nomads soft-ball team will no doubt cop the midget league circuit this year. They have a very strong team and with such stars as George, Guido, Tommy Perou, Bill Wright, Miller, Shuster, Hank O'Brien, Paul Rhodes, Jonathan Vargo, Norris, Harman, Newell, G. L. Hughes, Pansy, and a few others they are with no doubt sure of the title. The three boys from Canningham avenue have been going strong so far this season with the total of 16 homers among them. "Hank" O'Brien getting a "Johnnie" Vargo with 5, and "Paulie" Rhodes with 3. With the rest of the team in such fine smooth power it is no wonder why they are title bound. I believe "the east side is very proud of the team they have, this year it is seen that the east side will have all the three titles. The Senior League will be Nobils or Reds, the Junior League will be the Fannins, the Midget League will be the Nomads without any question about it. I would also like to add that the Nomads are working out continuously at Gaston Park.

Yours truly,

KNAB NEIRBO.

Just a little sport news, that and whatnot . . . Mrs. Hersley is standing right along side her little Rolie to see that he behaves . . . veteran trainers claim that more running horses break down in Florida than anywhere else in the United States.

Jack Dodd, Nebraska's star halfback and a trackster to boot, is a casualty . . . he busted his toe while pole vaulting . . . as a reward for his great running, Clerk Jim Herbert has been transferred to the Bronx main post office so that he can be closer to home and the N. Y. U. practice lot.

Note about a midget team . . . ordinarily, we would toss away a note concerning a midget athletic

TALES IN TIDBITS

By BILL BRAUCHER

Central Press Sports Editor

NEW YORK, May 16—Since the disaster of the Kentucky Derby, since he won the lightweight title from Tony Canzone, four years since he finally conquered Jimmy McLarnin for the welter title after three routing fights.

The years between have taken their toll. Barney has lived well. Not so long ago he succumbed to the first symptoms of carpet slippers by getting married.

Ross has watched Armstrong in two fights and studied his style. He counts on experience and his left hand to stem the hurricane onslaught of the little brown man.

But Barney believes it foolish to try to plan a fight in advance. He will wait to see what Henry does in the ring.

It is pretty well established what Henry will do. He will keep coming until he wins or loses. Ross will need all his speed, courage and skill to keep the Buzzsaw back.

Offhand, we like the little brown bull's chance to win this one. In any fight, we like to pick the man who lacks. And there comes a day in the life of every champion when he finds he hasn't got it any more. That day must be close for Ross.

Lawrence County Farms And Farmers

By H. R. McCulloch, County Agent

RASPBERRIES BENEFIT FROM FERTILIZER USE

Vigorous cane growth is essential in obtaining maximum yields of raspberries. While there may be some exceptions, the average raspberry planter in Lawrence county would profit by a more liberal use of manure and commercial fertilizer.

A liberal annual application of manure in late winter and early spring will aid materially in stimulating growth and in increasing the water-holding capacity of the soil.

However, in most plantings, a further increase in growth and yield will result if commercial fertilizer also is used. Where manure is not used, the necessity of fertilizer is increased. Nitrogenous fertilizers, such as nitrate of soda or sulphate of ammonia, have been shown to be effective in stimulating vigorous growth and in increasing production. Two hundred to 250 pounds of nitrate of soda or its equivalent is suggested as a suitable application per acre. It should be applied as growth is starting in the spring. The material may be applied with a drill, or broadcast by hand along the rows and between plants in the row.

Cultivation should also be started at this season, and should be thorough and frequent, but not deep.

FERTILIZATION INCREASES PRODUCTIVITY OF

Proper fertilization will make the home garden considerably more productive.

Stable manure adds fertility and enables the soil to hold more moisture during dry periods. Fifty pounds of superphosphate added to the manure will make a balanced fertilizer. When using chicken manure, add 150 pounds of superphosphate per ton of dry manure. Five, clover or other green crops may be substituted for manure. In addition, add a competent fertilizer as a 4-16-4 on fertile soils or a 4-12-4 on medium fertile soils. Work the fertilizer into the soil using 250 to 300 pounds for one-fourth to one-third acre, or 25 pounds per 1000 square feet.

Fresh, unleached hardwood ashes, containing about 5 per cent potash and 30 per cent lime, improve the physical condition of the soil. Sifted ash improves a stiff, hard soil, but add little or no fertility. Lime your soil. If in doubt as to the requirements, take a composite sample to the Agricultural Extension association office, 206 post office building, New Castle, where a test will be made.

BEAUTIFY HOME GROUNDS WITH CRABAPPLE TREES

A number of interesting flowering crabapples can be used as individual specimens, in group plantings, and as hedges or screens.

Most suitable crab varieties are the Arnold (Malus arnoldiana), Purple leaf (Malus atropurpurea), Siberian (Malus baccata), Wild Sweet (Malus coronaria), Japanese Flowering (Malus floribunda), Carmine (Malus floribunda strasanguinea), Red vein (Malus niedzwetzkyana), Parkman (Malus parkmanii), Sargent (Malus sargentii), Scheidecker (Malus scheideckeri), and tea (Malus thibetica).

Many of these varieties produce fruits of various colors and sizes. Some of the fruits have been used in limited quantities in jelly and preserve making.

THINNING HELPS IMPROVE YIELDS OF GARDEN CROPS

Crowding is a common cause of low yields of vegetables, observation in many gardens disclose.

Too often the seeds are sown too thickly, especially small seeded vegetables, and later the gardeners fail to thin the seedlings.

A few suggestions which may help increase your yields this year are here listed. For example, peas are usually sown in the row and never thinned, 12 to 14 plants per foot being desirable. Lettuce, spinach and other spring greens give best results when thinned one or two inches apart when an inch or two high. Continue thinning until the plants are six to ten inches apart, using the later thinnings for food.

Beets, carrots, parsnips, radishes, salsify and other root crops require space for root development. Carrots and radishes need two to three inches and beets and parsnips three to four.

Experiments show that bush beans thinned to three to four inches apart and bush lima beans to five inches give good results. Space early small growing varieties of sweet corn 12 inches apart.

Thin cucumbers several times until three plants remain per hill.

HOME ECONOMICS 4-H CLUB ACTIVITIES

Time has again rolled around to vacation season and 4-H Girls club meetings. Many 4-H clubs have already organized in Lawrence county and begun their work for the summer months.

One of the most interesting meetings that has been held this year was reported by Miss Agnes Weller, news reporter of Willard 4-H Clothing club. The club mentioned met at the home of Miss Doris Welsh on Saturday, May 7. The girls drafted patterns for their first garments of the club requirements. Doris Welsh gave a demonstration on "Tools I Need for My Sewing Basket". This club will meet again at the home of Mary and Edna Alford on May 21.

An interesting and varied program has been set up for this summer for all 4-H Girls clubs by Mary Vogie, home economics extension representative of the county and the local leaders in the various communities.

Many of the girls are already looking forward to participating in the Girls 4-H club district camp, club week at State College, and the county-wide roundup at the end of the club year.

MEN GET BREAK IN COOL CLOTHES FOR SUMMER

Rayon is not an exclusive fabric for women but it is used extensively for men's undergarments, pajamas, socks and neckties. But with the newest development in rayon industry—spun rayon—men will not need to suffer through the hot summer days in wool suits.

A new summer fabric which has the appearance of wool but is less expensive, is cooler and absorbs less moisture will be used this year for men's suits, explains Miss Mary Vogie, home economics extension representative of Lawrence county. Suits will be in light and dark colors suitable for any occasion.

Filament rayon yarn from which the cloth is woven is smooth and even and is made by combining a number of the practically endless, even filaments into a thread. Spun rayon yarn is made by spinning short fibers into a thread just as cotton or wool is spun. In fact, these short fibers are made to resemble cotton, wool and linen fibers in diameter and length, and are often spun into yarn or thread on the same machinery as is used for these natural fibers. They may be made with a bright or a dull finish.

This new rayon, which has been developed within the last three or four years, makes possible a great variety of blends of fibers. Many interesting new textures have been produced. Spun rayon fabrics may be soft and fuzzy like wool, or firm and crisp like linen. Cotton, linen or wool are combined with rayon either before or after the threads are spun. Cotton and spun rayon suitings were used extensively last summer for sport suits.

Finishing methods developed in the last two or three years make the fabrics wrinkle-resistant and non-shrinkable. When you buy a suit of these new materials, be sure you are getting these finishes.

RHUBARB IN MENU

Rhubarb is one of our best spring foods. But all too soon, the family digests rhubarb sauce. Home economics extension specialist at the Pennsylvania State college suggests rhubarb betty. It is made in the same way as apple betty, using either stewed or raw rhubarb. If the latter, sprinkle each layer with sugar, dot with butter and bake a little longer than when the rhubarb is already cooked.
